

November 19, 2009

Dear FFF Members,

I'm writing to encourage you to take advantage of the extended Five Rivers Sweepstakes. As you know, this fundraiser was designed to provide a few lucky folks with the fly fishing opportunity of a lifetime and to generate funds for FFF programs.

The FFF has been a longtime friend of Jay Burgin, owner of Five Rivers Lodge in Montana and Cinco Rios Lodge in Chile. Over the years Jay has donated numerous trips to FFF council's and clubs. The Five Rivers Sweepstakes package was created with the support and generosity of Jay to allow FFF clubs and council's the opportunity to receive a percentage of sweepstakes profits.

In total, the sweepstakes offers 17 trips to the Five Rivers Lodge in Montana and one trip to Chile. Seventeen lucky people will win 4 days and 5 nights for two people at Five Rivers Lodge. One lucky winner will receive a 6 day, 7 night trip for two people to Cinco Rios, Chile. All trips include a travel stipend for each winner. The Montana trips are to be taken in 2010 and the Chile trip to be taken in 2011 with the season starting in January.

The beginning of the fly fishing show season in January is an opportunity to sell more tickets and add new members to the FFF. For additional tickets and details please contact Josset Gauley at our home office. You can also purchase tickets online www.fffgear.com. Remember that the more tickets we sell the more money you get back for your council and clubs. Even if we only break even, this sweepstakes is an opportunity of a lifetime to be able to fish the famous rivers of Montana or Chile. I look at this way - what does it cost to fill up your vehicle with gas? If you purchase just one ticket at $20.00, less than the cost for you to fill up your tank, now you might have the adventure of a lifetime.

Sincerely,

Phil Greenlee

FFF Chairman / President